

BIOLAW

AND GLOBAL RISKS

Challenges to Autonomy and Dignity in Pandemic Times

August 27th, 2020

8:50 am (New York City Time)

Roger Brownsword

He is one of the pioneers and founders of European biolaw. He has published about 20 books, most recently Law, Technology and Society-Re-imagining the Regulatory Environment, and more than 250 chapters in books and articles. He is the founding general editor of Law, Innovation and Technology as well as being on the editorial board of the Modern Law Review, the International Journal of Law and Information Technology, and the Journal of Law and the Biosciences. Member of the International Network of Biolaw.

BIOLAW

AND GLOBAL RISKS

Challenges to Autonomy and Dignity in Pandemic Times

August 27th, 2020

8:50 am (New York City Time)

Ellen Wright-Clayton

She is Craig-Weaver Professor of Pediatrics, Professor of Law, Professor of Health Policy at Vanderbilt University, USA. She also is an internationally respected leader particularly in the field of law and genetics. Professor Clayton's scholarship currently focuses on the translation of genomics to clinical care. She has published two books and more than 175 scholarly articles and chapters in medical journals, interdisciplinary journals and law journals on the intersection of law, medicine and public health. Member of the International Network of Biolaw.

BIOLAW

AND GLOBAL RISKS

Challenges to Autonomy and Dignity in Pandemic Times

August 27th, 2020

8:50 am (New York City Time)

Anders Sandberg

He is an important researcher, science debater, futurist, transhumanist and author. He holds a Ph.D. in computational neuroscience from Stockholm University, and is currently a Senior Research Fellow at the Future of Humanity Institute at University of Oxford. Sandberg's research is focused on societal and ethical issues surrounding human enhancement and new technology, as well as on assessing the capabilities and underlying science of future technologies.

BIOLAW

AND GLOBAL RISKS

Challenges to Autonomy and Dignity in Pandemic Times

August 27th, 2020

8:50 am (New York City Time)

Darryl Macer

Very important figure of international bioethics and biolaw. President and provost, American University of Sovereign Nations, USA. Director, Eubios Ethics Institute, New Zealand, Japan and Thailand. Director, International Peace and Development Ethics Centre, and Senior Research Fellow, United Nations University, UNESCO. His work reaches global impact issues, such as peace and public health, environmental sustainability, indigenous populations, biolaw and health sciences, among others. Founding member of the International Network of Biolaw

BIOLAW

AND GLOBAL RISKS

Challenges to Autonomy and Dignity in Pandemic Times

August 27th, 2020

8:50 am (New York City Time)

Amedeo Santosuosso

One of the most important Italian and European biojurists. Former President of First Chamber, Court of Appeal of Milan (Italy). Professor of Law, Science, New Technologies at the University of Pavia, Department of Law. Professor of ICTs, Artificial Intelligence and Law at Institute of Advanced Studies (IUSS), Pavia (I). Interdepartmental Research Center ECLT, University of Pavia (I), Scientific Director World Commission on the Ethics of Scientific Knowledge and Technology (COMEST -UNESCO), Member.

BIOLAW

AND GLOBAL RISKS

Challenges to Autonomy and Dignity in Pandemic Times

August 27th, 2020

8:50 am (New York City Time)

Arístides Obando

Colombian jurist and philosopher who leads the field of practical philosophy in Ibero America. His work focuses on differentiated rights, political philosophy and biolaw. Author, coauthor and editor of numerous books on political philosophy and law published in Ibero America. Founding member of the International Network of Biolaw.

BIOLAW

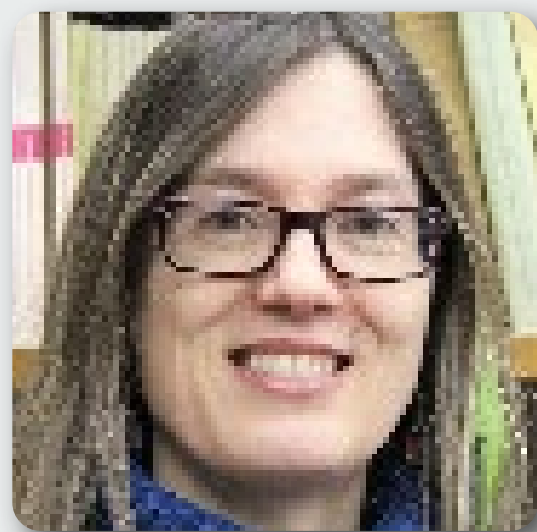

AND GLOBAL RISKS

Challenges to Autonomy and Dignity in Pandemic Times

August 27th, 2020

8:50 am (New York City Time)

Andrea Macía Morillo

Relevant Spanish jurist. She is the author of two books, as well as various articles on medical responsibility, on preimplantation and prenatal diagnosis and on embryonic selection in the framework of assisted reproduction techniques. Her latest work, Preimplantation Genetic Diagnosis and Medical Liability for False Negatives, has been awarded in 2018 with the V National Prize for Health Law, Spain. Member of the International Network of Biolaw.

BIOLAW

AND GLOBAL RISKS

Challenges to Autonomy and Dignity in Pandemic Times

August 27th, 2020

8:50 am (New York City Time)

Gabriela Arguedas

She has published articles about the ethics of genetic patents, obstetric power/violence, ecofeminism, religious fundamentalism and sexual rights. As part of an alliance between the Center for and the Women's Studies Research Center (CIEM) at the University of Costa Rica, she presented the results of her research on obstetric violence in Costa Rica, in a thematic audience for the Inter-American Commission on Human Rights (IHC). Member of the International Network of Biolaw.

BIOLAW

AND GLOBAL RISKS

Challenges to Autonomy and Dignity in Pandemic Times

August 27th, 2020

8:50 am (New York City Time)

Lily Flah

She is an influential lawyer from the University of Buenos Aires, Argentina, and professor in the Area of Human Rights and Bioethics in Masters in Public Health, at the same university. She is also the Postgraduate Director of the University of Buenos Aires and the Buenos Aires Bar Association. Her research and publications focus on biolegal issues. Member of the International Network of Biolaw.

BIOLAW

AND GLOBAL RISKS

Challenges to Autonomy and Dignity in Pandemic Times

August 27th, 2020

8:50 am (New York City Time)

Alejandro Castaño Bedoya

PhD in Philosophy and PhD canonical in philosophy. Master in Law, University the Basque Country, Spain. Member, Colombian National Academy of Medicine (Bioethics). Member, International Court Administration. Member, Society and Law Network (Argentina). Researcher at Saint Thomas University. (Colombia). Author of several publications on law and biolaw in Italy, Mexico, and Brazil, among others. Member of the International Network of Biolaw.

BIOLAW

AND GLOBAL RISKS

Challenges to Autonomy and Dignity in Pandemic Times

August 27th, 2020

8:50 am (New York City Time)

William Ordoñez Bastidas

He is a lawyer from the University of Cauca, Colombia; Master in Law from the Externado University, Colombia, and Ph.D. (c) in Law from the same university. He is a research professor at the University of Cauca, where he teaches in areas such as biolaw, civil responsibility, constitutional law, administrative law, and bioethics. Member of the International Network of Biolaw.